Disposed Of.
Catharine Middleton, charged with stealing a suit of children's clothing from Wm. Ronsheim, had her case continued until next Wednesday. Mollie O'Keefe, for creating a disturbance at the "Big Missouri" yesterday, went out to the Work-house for ten days.

Last Thursday Mrs. Stigler, residing at No. 11 Mulberry street, left her husband, Samuel Stigler, on account of his continually mistreating her, and went back to her mother's house. Samuel, not satisfied with this, yesterday went to the parental home, and abused his wife in a shameful manner. Mrs. Stigler had her unworthy husband arrested. This morning in the Police Court his case was continued until next Thurs-

Wm. Murray was charged with stealing a case of tomatoes valued at $3, from H. T. Hemingway & Co. His case was continued until Saturday.

Jacob Bender, a regular from the New port Barracks, came over to this side of the creek last night. At the corner of Plum and Third streets he got into an altercation with three men named George Meyers, Tim. Mulcahy and Sam. McNamars, and received several rough bruises on the face. McNamara, who seemed to be the disturbing element in the row, received three months. The others were dismissed.

John McNamara was up for stealing a

The sack very much re-sembled those in which coin are shipped, and no doubt Mac, thought he was and no doubt Mac, thought he was get-ting away with something valuable. When arrested by Larry Hazen a certificate of deposit for $130 was found upon him, which had been stolen from a guest of the Crawford House. The charge of grand larceny was placed against him. His case was continued until next Tuesday.

Alexander Woods, a colored gentleman,

A Volcano Ready to Burst.

[Buffalo Express.]

Dwellers in the neighborhood of the picturesque Bare Hill, opposite Seneca Point, on Canandaigua Lake, whose bold front rears itself into the heavens, assert that symptoms of volcanic action are apparent at the base of the hill. Referring to the matter, the Canandaigua Referring to the matter, the Canandagua Journal says there is nothing unreasonable in the supposition that there are hidden natural forces under the hill which, if they have never manifested themselves at the surface, may yet do so with considerable force. There have been such eruptions on this continent, and there may be again. Indeed, the bareness of the hill, from which it derived its peculiar name, may be attrib-utable directly to this cause; and it is a subject deserving the attention of the curious and of those versed in geological science. There are people now living in science. There are people now living in that vicinity who have a clear remembrance of similar sounds emanating from that hill between twenty-five and thirty years ago, which fact indicates that this is not a new development.

"Assisted By." [Chicago Journal.]

"I allus have to smile," remarked old Deacon Jay, the other evening, "when I see it announced about a weddin' marriage see it announced about a weddin' marriage that the 'officiating clergyman' was 'assisted by' another preacher. Just as though one parson wasn't strong enough to do the job! Why, with all the nonsense put on at weddin's these days, I wouldn't be surprised to see it the fashion yet that one clergyman stands in front of the couple, and one behind, and one on each side, while the sexton and his assistants hold the windows and doors and the speciators hold their and doors, and the spectators hold their breath! 'Assisted by!' Pffu!"
